949 Park Avenue, New York City, NY

Located on Park Avenue, Manhattan, between 81st and 82nd streets, this 178-foot-tall, luxury residential building, was completed in 2014.

Architectural critic James Gardner stated, "This project is the latest and possibly the best of three similar buildings that have gone up on the east side of Park Avenue between 81st and 87th streets in the past few years. The abundance of glass on the pale façade makes no attempt to harmonize with the more traditional red-brick neighbors on either side, but the general tastefulness and elegance of the project causes it to seem entirely appropriate to such an established part of the city."

949 Park Avenue was featured on Bravo television network's series, "Million Dollar Listing," selected to highlight one of New York City's finest high-end, luxury residential buildings.
